

The Weekly Chronicle.

THE DALLES, OREGON

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

From the Daily Chronicle, Friday

Mr. Alex. MacLeod of Portland, is in the city.

C. M. Donaldson, of Baker City, is in The Dalles on business.

J. S. Booth and G. W. Runyon are in the consolidated city today.

W. L. Vanderpool of Dufur, returned last night from a business trip to the metropolis.

Perry Howard of Wapinitia came in yesterday and will return today with a stock of winter supplies.

Notwithstanding the denial of the Astoria cannerymen, the fact remains that they have formed a trust.

The last through trip of the steamers Regulator and Dalles City for at least two weeks, will be made tomorrow.

Invitations are out for the Crystal Wedding, 20th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Patterson, Monday evening next.

Mr. A. Bunnell, one of the old-time citizens of The Dalles, has gone to Lewiston to spend the winter with his brother.

Mrs. Albert McFarland who has been visiting friends and relatives in The Dalles for some time past, left for her home in Seattle yesterday.

Indications point to the fact that the coming legislative assembly is to have more than the average number of county seat and county division contests.

If this pleasant weather continues, The Dalles streets will soon again be of the hard-pan-surface order. The muddy places are drying up very rapidly.

That United States flag was not run up this morning until 9:30. It is "technically wrong" not to hoist the Stars and Stripes in official places at sunrise.

Mr. J. H. Klock of Ohio, arrived in the city Saturday evening last. Mr. Klock is a nephew of N. Mathias, and is pleased with what he has seen of our country.

Messrs. Maier & Benton are determined that the citizens of The Dalles should not want for tubers for a while. They shipped in from below 130 sacks yesterday.

A crusade against ladies wearing high hats at places of amusement has commenced. At the Tremont theater in Boston, ladies are requested to remove their or wear small bonnets.

An observer says that banana juice makes a first class indelible ink. A spot on a white cloth from a dead-ripe banana is marked forever, and the juice from bananas thoroughly decayed is a bright, clear carmine.

Christmas goods at very low prices is the common remark at all The Dalles stores this week. The stocks are really superb in all lines; the best exhibit The Dalles has ever made in any previous year.

Mr. C. G. Green, of Collins landing, and Mrs. R. N. Nickeson and children, of the same place, came up by the Regulator last night to prepare for the last trip for a short time of the Regulator, and do some shopping.

Every citizen should consider the interests of The Dalles paramount to those of any man or set of men. As a matter of fact there must be two sides to every question, but in the main effort all should pull together for the general good.

Louie Davenport arrived at the stock yards last evening from his Mosier ranch, with a carload of fat cattle, sold to Charles Butler, of Fort Tuttle. They were weighed before shipping, and every one of them went over 1,200 pounds.

Jos. B. Keeney of Pendleton, now the pioneer stage man longest in the Inland Empire, has been in the city several days on business with A. W. Branner, manager of the Oregon, California and Idaho Stage company. He left for Pendleton yesterday.

We are inclined to the belief that our farmers will "miss it" by holding potatoes. The Southern Pacific railway is hauling potatoes to San Francisco for almost nothing. There is a big crop and the surplus will seek the points of demand.

The livery and feed stables of the city are a pretty certain index of the amount of country business done in the city. They are all comfortably filled with country teams today, and the large stables of Robertson & Burham are overflowing.

Deputy U. S. Marshal Jameson arrested a man for selling liquor to Indians this week who was armed with a revolver and 150 rounds of cartridges. He took to Portland yesterday two prisoners, white men, charged with selling liquor to Indians, accompanied by eight Indians as witnesses.

Mr. S. S. Hayes, county clerk of Sherman county, and Mrs. Hayes, accompanied by Mrs. Henry Moore, of Moro, are in the city. Mrs. Hayes goes out tomorrow morning on the Regulator to visit friends and relatives in the Willamette valley. Mr. Hayes returns home tomorrow.

The funeral of Wm. Bethune will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the undertaking parlors of Crandall & Burget.

The police courts is very quiet. Marshal Maloney had but one hobo before the court this morning, and he was up for begging.

Mr. George W. Rowland has bought the Wm. Butler warehouse, and is moving it to Second street and will fit it up for a business house. East End is making a steady growth and is becoming a business part of the city.

Quite a love scene was witnessed on Washington street this morning between a dusky maiden and her sweetheart. The characters were well played and as true to life as though they were conducted by pale faces. He humored her pout, and finally kissing, they made up, and he surrendered the pack to her.

Nearly every day there are fresh evidences accumulating to show the necessity for something in the shape of a Bureau of Information, or board of trade in The Dalles. We all know the usefulness of such organizations. We should keep up a board of trade constantly, and not let another one die for lack of support.

From a passenger by steamer Regulator yesterday we learn that the U. P. steamer Bonita, wrecked near Bridal Veil last week is so completely wrecked that she will never be gotten off only as she is broken up, and her machinery, furniture and tackle is taken out. He says that she has settled down on the reef by the receding water so that the hull is split in two and is astride the rock.

The old saying that a man who is his own lawyer has a fool for a client, may be a little too sweeping. We would not state the truth which it contains in quite so harsh a form. But it is entirely within the bounds to say that the claimant who tries to look after his own claim instead of having it prosecuted by a competent attorney does not understand his own interests.

Even in this "off" year in the valley, according to reports the farmers have realized handsomely from their prune orchards. A car load was shipped to Chicago last week from Oak Grove, which had been purchased at 9 1/2 cents per lb. One man realized $2,000 from ten acres, another $1,900 from 5 1/2 acres. The Dalles crops being better than anything in the valley, show much more satisfactory returns.

A gentleman from Port Townsend informs us that in Jefferson county two Dalles city men were up for office. R. E. Moody, son of Gov. Moody, ran for county attorney. His competitor was elected by 141. J. N. Lambach, formerly bookkeeper for Snipes & Kinersly, was elected county clerk by thirty-three majority. Both gentlemen are republicans, and both are popular.

Portland and Walla Walla are wrestling with the muddy streets, and according to all accounts they are far worse in either city than are the streets of The Dalles. There seems to be no way in which this nuisance can be abated. The rain will descend, and travel makes mud and scatters it far and wide. Until all the streets are permanently improved, and some adequate system adopted to keep the thoroughfares clear of the all-pervading mud, the public must endure the inconvenience.

We acknowledge the receipt of a beautiful bouquet of roses from Mrs. S. L. Brooks' flower garden, comprising the following varieties: Safrano, Malmaison, Devonienses, Madam Bravy, Hermosa, La France, Queen of Crimsons, Mad. Rachel, Mad. Welch, Duchesse of Brabant, and several others. What region of country other than Oregon can duplicate this on the 16th day of December? The Dalles, with its genial climate, 116 feet above sea level, nestled in the heart of the fertile and prolific fruit regions of the Inland Empire, sends its fragrant and soul inspiring greeting to those less cheerfully surrounded, proclaiming: Come, there is ample room with us for tens of thousands disposed to better conditions by a change of locality. Come, and unite your fortunes with us, where it is a delight to live. Capitalists will find no better openings for business in America, than may be found right here at The Dalles. It is those who are abundantly able to enjoy this climate that we would especially ask: "Lend us your ear."

Wm. Bethune, a rancher living near Mitchell, was found dead in his bed at The Umatilla this morning. He has been in the city for some time past, rooming at The Umatilla, but was very seldom seen about the hotel until after nightfall. He has been an excessively hard drinker, and this was the cause assigned for his death by the jury at a coroner's inquest this forenoon. When he came to the hotel last evening he could scarcely stand up, and actually fell to the floor, bruising and cutting his face, by the fall. He was taken to his room and a doctor sent for. Everything that could be done for him was done, and he was finally left comfortably sleeping. During the night his spark of life went out. Coroner Eastwood was notified, and a jury consisting of Messrs. E. B. Johnson, J. Fisher, D. N. Ebersole, J. S. Schooling, J. Burger and S. C. Thurman, was empaneled. After listening to the testimony the jury returned a verdict of death from the excessive use of alcoholic stimulants.

To glance over the local papers of the state, in nearly every locality is found this heading: "Another Pioneer Gone." There is something pathetic in this refrain, and the constant rehearsing of it leads one to wonder that there are any of the old pioneers left to tell the tales of yore. The latest reported death of a pioneer is that of Judge J. Orvis Waterman, auditor of Skamania county, Wash. His death occurred last Sunday at the Cascades, and he was buried at Washougal on Tuesday, by the I. O. O. F. He was a charter member of Samaritan No. 2. In early days Judge Waterman was a conspicuous figure among men in Oregon. When Lot Whitecomb laid out the town of Milwaukie, midway between Oregon City and Portland, it was Carter & Waterman who established the Star at that point and he, as its editor, advocated the beauties of its location. This was Nov. 15th, 1850, about a month previous to the first issue of the Oregonian by T. J. Dryer, in the rival town of Portland, ten miles below Oregon City.

From the Daily Chronicle Saturday.

Swan and duck are plentiful on Snipes' lake today.

Bro. Gradlebaugh, of the Hood River Glacier, is in the city.

Max. Voght has returned from a two weeks' visit on 15-Mile.

Mr. Ed Roth and two sisters of Kingsley, and Mr. E. Taylor of Antelope, are in the city.

Capt. Lewis is gradually improving, and is expected to be on the streets again soon.

Hon. Geo. W. Johnson of Dufur, was in the city on business last evening. He returned today.

Hon. E. L. Smith of Hood River, accompanied by Mrs. Smith, visited The Dalles yesterday.

Mr. John Marshall of Portland is in the city, on a visit to his sister, Mrs. A. M. Williams.

We are pleased to hear that Mr. Geo. P. Morgan is improving and will soon be on the streets again.

Owing to the continued illness of Pastor Taylor there will be no preaching service at Academy hall to-morrow.

Dr. Siddall is in Portland, where he expects to remain and partake of Christmas turkey, returning to The Dalles on the 27th.

The road to ambition is too narrow for friendship, too crooked for love, too rugged for honesty and too dark for science.

As there are no blessings which may not be perverted into evils, so there are no trials which may not be converted into blessings.

The accident this morning to the west bound freight was caused by breaking an axle on the locomotive suddenly piling the cars up and off.

Fine fresh Columbia river smelt are in the market in abundance; but they take a back seat alongside the speckled beauties from Hood river.

Deputy Sheriff J. H. Phirman, returned last night from Salem where he left R. S. Spaulding the insane man, committed by the county court.

Mr. G. J. Farley has the thanks of THE CHRONICLE for some excellent blotting pads, of the latest styles, issued by the New York Life, represented by him in this city.

The railway track leading to the coal bunkers in this city is pretty slick these frosty mornings, and a locomotive has got to have lots of sand to make the climb.

Christian church services will be held in the Congregational church Sunday at 3 p. m. Preaching by Elder J. W. Jenkins. Subject—"Honoring Christ."

The Leader notes the arrival of Attorney Wilson, of Mays, Huntington & Wilson, of The Dalles, last Saturday. He is attorney for the republican side of the house in the contest case.

Wheat hauling is drawing to a close in Kilekitt. The Leader says there is yet considerable wheat in the county but not a great deal more of it will be hauled out this fall.

Messrs. S. S. McKinley of Boston, Mass., G. W. Curran of St. Louis, Mo., and J. M. Dixon of Blairsville, Pa., today added their names to the list of easterners now visiting The Dalles.

The votaries of Terpsichore held high carnival last evening at Wingate's hall. About twenty couples were present and a more enjoyable evening has not been passed in Dalles society circles this season.

Lieut. Peavey, the Arctic explorer, while in the frozen regions failed to find Santa Claus. He explored in the wrong place; he should have looked in at I. C. Nickelsen's, Jacobsen & Co.'s or L. Rorden's.

Mr. Levi Clark has bought the Wm. Butler building and leased the ground on the corner of Madison and Second streets. We understand he will put in a full stock of plumbing supplies in the near future.

In the state printing office at Salem yesterday work was started on the biennial report of the weather bureau, by B. S. Pague, assistant director. This report is very complete and reflects credit on the compiler, who has given it careful attention and research. The information it contains will prove of great benefit to the public, setting forth, as it will, complete data on the climatology of Oregon.

Captain Buschke, of The Dalles, was in Moro last week buying a team for himself, and while there he drew up a petition to the general war department asking that there be a cavalry company formed in Moro.

The Regulator brought up 200 sacks of potatoes last night from Portland. It turns out that the potato crop was so large west of the mountains that a market is sought in San Francisco, and even there the tuber is dull on the market.

Deputy Sheriff Phirman sold a lot of cigars today at sheriff sale at the Court house. The amount for which they were sold was $36.00 and the amount of claim and costs was $37.00. Mr. H. H. Riddell bid them in presumably for the claimant.

The wreck of a freight train at Deschutes last night delayed the 3:05 a. m. train west to-day seven hours. The boys have been pretty lucky this winter so far. This is the first accident to get a wheel off this upper division for several months.

Bro. Brooks has turned out the first copy of the Grant Dispatch. In his salute he says: "This town is new and as yet in the rough, but has possibilities before it. There is considerable to be done in and around it, particularly in the way of roads, and this paper proposes to work for the best good of the town and of the county."

The Klickitat Courier is informed that Bennett and Wright, who bought the Hunt survey, contemplate running a road from near Wallina to the coal fields in Skamania county, near Mount Adams, and thence through the Klickitat Pass to Tacoma. This is the hope of Goldendale for a railway.

The green aphid has cost the fruit raisers of Eastern Washington many thousands of dollars this year. It is a recent importation from California, and should be exterminated by concerted warfare. Some farmers think this can be done by liberal use of the emulsion of kerosene and common soap, while others think kerosene is injurious to the trees. Surely a safe remedy can and will be found, for the interest involved is very great.

Eight men lately employed in the survey of a route for the government canal, portage or ship railway around the dalles, between this city and Celilo, were passengers for Portland, by the steamer Regulator to-day. They took the entire outfit with them, and have practically completed the field portion of the surveys. Lines have been run on both sides of the river, and while the gentlemen connected with the work have had nothing to report for publication, enough is known to warrant the statement that a first-class route has been located.

The bright little five-year-old Marie, daughter of Frank and Anna Brown of Grants, died at 9:30 p. m. last evening in this city, after an intense suffering of two weeks from bowel complaint. Mr. A. McKinley, jr., of Portland, brother-in-law of Mr. Brown, Mrs. Walter Fraime, sister of Mrs. Brown, and Miss Hattie Lovelace of Grants, were here assisting the parents in their efforts to relieve the patient little sufferer, for whom all was done that it was possible to do, but without success. The remains will be taken to Portland this afternoon for burial. We extend our sympathies to the bereaved ones.

The state militia meeting in Portland was largely attended from all parts of Oregon. The Third regiment is represented by Colonel J. P. Lucas, Condon; Lieutenant-Colonel G. T. Thompson, The Dalles. Regimental staff: First Lieutenant J. F. Haworth, adjutant, The Dalles; First Lieutenant J. S. Booth, signal officer, The Dalles; A. company, The Dalles, Second Lieutenant J. H. Buschke; C company, The Dalles, Captain L. Chrisman, First Lieutenant Deibert Cheeseman; D company, Second Lieutenant J. H. Ferguson; E company, Fossil, Captain B. Gaffney; F company, Baker City, First Lieutenant A. S. Shockey; I company, Joseph, Captain F. M. McCully; K company, La Grande, Captain J. C. Henry, First Lieutenant W. F. Snodgrass. "Having the right to demand proper recognition," as suggested by Col. Beebe, the meeting thoroughly discussed and finally adopted resolutions instructing the legislative committee to draft and present a bill for the legislature, increasing the military fund of the state from one-fifth to two-fifths of a mill, and asking for an additional appropriation of $20,000 to meet present deficiencies. The Telegram says it was one of the largest and most enthusiastic meetings of the Officers Association that has ever been held in the state. Capt. McCully, in a legislative action speech, showed how it was that the militia proposes to carry the bullet and the ballot in the same haversack, making it a political citizen-soldier. We quote from the report: "Captain McCully struck the keynote of the situation when he said that the militia in his and adjoining counties were the deciding element in the election of their legislators. The Oregon National Guard holds the balance of power in its hands. Too often has the militia been worked for political purposes, and too little has that power been recognized. Men went to the legislature on promises made the citizen-soldier. It is time they were redeeming their pledges."

Those wishing to see the celebrated Stoddard Art Souvenir call on Mr. Hughes at the store of Crandall & Burget. We are pleased to show it to everybody whether you buy or not. Terms to suit everybody.

Messrs. Isaac and George Joles returned last night from another run into Sherman county after wild geese, they were not so fortunate as the former trip, as they only succeeded in getting 37 for their days hunt. While they were in a secluded spot where they had decoys on, a large grey eagle swooped down and took one of them down in his talons and started off for a good breakfast, when a discharge from a breach-loader brought both eagle and decoy to the ground. The bird is a fine and very large one, he measured seven feet from tip to tip, and could carry off a wild goose with ease.

A regulation fox hunt, with a healthy two year old fox, is to be one of the Christmas amusements near Eugene next Saturday. The fox will be led around Skimmers butte then placed in a box. The hounds will be placed on the track at the commencement, and the first dog to reach the box will be awarded the purse made up from the small entrance fees. Then the fox will be turned loose on the south side of the butte and the dogs allowed a chance. It is safe to say Sir Renard will not be caught, although they may eventually tree him. No horse or vehicles will be allowed on the butte.

A pleasant surprise was tendered the family of Mr. Richards on 8-Mile the evening of the 14th. The evening was pleasantly passed in various ways, and after a toothsome collation the party dispersed. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Low, Mr. and Mrs. Bolton, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Allen, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Gilbraith, Misses Jennie Waterman, Grace Riddell, Hattie Allen, Clara Allen, Lida Johnson, Grace Johnson, Edna Osborne, Lida Herman, Messrs. George Low, D. Bolton, L. Bolton, N. MacDonald, Jas. Johnson, W. Gilbraith, O. Rice, C. Egbert, T. Farrington, F. Garlow, B. Brooks, Clyde Riddell, Randy and Davis.

THE CHRONICLE is under obligations to Dr. J. R. Cardwell, president of the Oregon state board of horticulture, for a copy of the biennial report to the assembly. It is very interesting, particularly upon such topics as fig culture, by A. T. Hawley, etc. We would not have the state horticultural society lose sight of the fact that remarkably fine figs are produced in The Dalles. This year Mr. E. Shanno had them in abundance, fully ripe and perfected in June. From judicious planting and cultivation of the slips and cuttings of the acclimated and naturalized trees or bushes, if the owners could be induced to go into the business, the shade of the fig tree as well as of the vine could in a few years become a universal feature of an Inland Empire landscape.

THE CHRONICLE is under obligations to Dr. J. R. Cardwell, president of the Oregon state board of horticulture, for a copy of the biennial report to the assembly. It is very interesting, particularly upon such topics as fig culture, by A. T. Hawley, etc. We would not have the state horticultural society lose sight of the fact that remarkably fine figs are produced in The Dalles. This year Mr. E. Shanno had them in abundance, fully ripe and perfected in June. From judicious planting and cultivation of the slips and cuttings of the acclimated and naturalized trees or bushes, if the owners could be induced to go into the business, the shade of the fig tree as well as of the vine could in a few years become a universal feature of an Inland Empire landscape.

THE CHRONICLE is under obligations to Dr. J. R. Cardwell, president of the Oregon state board of horticulture, for a copy of the biennial report to the assembly. It is very interesting, particularly upon such topics as fig culture, by A. T. Hawley, etc. We would not have the state horticultural society lose sight of the fact that remarkably fine figs are produced in The Dalles. This year Mr. E. Shanno had them in abundance, fully ripe and perfected in June. From judicious planting and cultivation of the slips and cuttings of the acclimated and naturalized trees or bushes, if the owners could be induced to go into the business, the shade of the fig tree as well as of the vine could in a few years become a universal feature of an Inland Empire landscape.

THE CHRONICLE is under obligations to Dr. J. R. Cardwell, president of the Oregon state board of horticulture, for a copy of the biennial report to the assembly. It is very interesting, particularly upon such topics as fig culture, by A. T. Hawley, etc. We would not have the state horticultural society lose sight of the fact that remarkably fine figs are produced in The Dalles. This year Mr. E. Shanno had them in abundance, fully ripe and perfected in June. From judicious planting and cultivation of the slips and cuttings of the acclimated and naturalized trees or bushes, if the owners could be induced to go into the business, the shade of the fig tree as well as of the vine could in a few years become a universal feature of an Inland Empire landscape.

THE CHRONICLE is under obligations to Dr. J. R. Cardwell, president of the Oregon state board of horticulture, for a copy of the biennial report to the assembly. It is very interesting, particularly upon such topics as fig culture, by A. T. Hawley, etc. We would not have the state horticultural society lose sight of the fact that remarkably fine figs are produced in The Dalles. This year Mr. E. Shanno had them in abundance, fully ripe and perfected in June. From judicious planting and cultivation of the slips and cuttings of the acclimated and naturalized trees or bushes, if the owners could be induced to go into the business, the shade of the fig tree as well as of the vine could in a few years become a universal feature of an Inland Empire landscape.

THE CHRONICLE is under obligations to Dr. J. R. Cardwell, president of the Oregon state board of horticulture, for a copy of the biennial report to the assembly. It is very interesting, particularly upon such topics as fig culture, by A. T. Hawley, etc. We would not have the state horticultural society lose sight of the fact that remarkably fine figs are produced in The Dalles. This year Mr. E. Shanno had them in abundance, fully ripe and perfected in June. From judicious planting and cultivation of the slips and cuttings of the acclimated and naturalized trees or bushes, if the owners could be induced to go into the business, the shade of the fig tree as well as of the vine could in a few years become a universal feature of an Inland Empire landscape.

THE CHRONICLE is under obligations to Dr. J. R. Cardwell, president of the Oregon state board of horticulture, for a copy of the biennial report to the assembly. It is very interesting, particularly upon such topics as fig culture, by A. T. Hawley, etc. We would not have the state horticultural society lose sight of the fact that remarkably fine figs are produced in The Dalles. This year Mr. E. Shanno had them in abundance, fully ripe and perfected in June. From judicious planting and cultivation of the slips and cuttings of the acclimated and naturalized trees or bushes, if the owners could be induced to go into the business, the shade of the fig tree as well as of the vine could in a few years become a universal feature of an Inland Empire landscape.

THE CHRONICLE is under obligations to Dr. J. R. Cardwell, president of the Oregon state board of horticulture, for a copy of the biennial report to the assembly. It is very interesting, particularly upon such topics as fig culture, by A. T. Hawley, etc. We would not have the state horticultural society lose sight of the fact that remarkably fine figs are produced in The Dalles. This year Mr. E. Shanno had them in abundance, fully ripe and perfected in June. From judicious planting and cultivation of the slips and cuttings of the acclimated and naturalized trees or bushes, if the owners could be induced to go into the business, the shade of the fig tree as well as of the vine could in a few years become a universal feature of an Inland Empire landscape.

THE CHRONICLE is under obligations to Dr. J. R. Cardwell, president of the Oregon state board of horticulture, for a copy of the biennial report to the assembly. It is very interesting, particularly upon such topics as fig culture, by A. T. Hawley, etc. We would not have the state horticultural society lose sight of the fact that remarkably fine figs are produced in The Dalles. This year Mr. E. Shanno had them in abundance, fully ripe and perfected in June. From judicious planting and cultivation of the slips and cuttings of the acclimated and naturalized trees or bushes, if the owners could be induced to go into the business, the shade of the fig tree as well as of the vine could in a few years become a universal feature of an Inland Empire landscape.

THE CHRONICLE is under obligations to Dr. J. R. Cardwell, president of the Oregon state board of horticulture, for a copy of the biennial report to the assembly. It is very interesting, particularly upon such topics as fig culture, by A. T. Hawley, etc. We would not have the state horticultural society lose sight of the fact that remarkably fine figs are produced in The Dalles. This year Mr. E. Shanno had them in abundance, fully ripe and perfected in June. From judicious planting and cultivation of the slips and cuttings of the acclimated and naturalized trees or bushes, if the owners could be induced to go into the business, the shade of the fig tree as well as of the vine could in a few years become a universal feature of an Inland Empire landscape.

THE CHRONICLE is under obligations to Dr. J. R. Cardwell, president of the Oregon state board of horticulture, for a copy of the biennial report to the assembly. It is very interesting, particularly upon such topics as fig culture, by A. T. Hawley, etc. We would not have the state horticultural society lose sight of the fact that remarkably fine figs are produced in The Dalles. This year Mr. E. Shanno had them in abundance, fully ripe and perfected in June. From judicious planting and cultivation of the slips and cuttings of the acclimated and naturalized trees or bushes, if the owners could be induced to go into the business, the shade of the fig tree as well as of the vine could in a few years become a universal feature of an Inland Empire landscape.

THE CHRONICLE is under obligations to Dr. J. R. Cardwell, president of the Oregon state board of horticulture, for a copy of the biennial report to the assembly. It is very interesting, particularly upon such topics as fig culture, by A. T. Hawley, etc. We would not have the state horticultural society lose sight of the fact that remarkably fine figs are produced in The Dalles. This year Mr. E. Shanno had them in abundance, fully ripe and perfected in June. From judicious planting and cultivation of the slips and cuttings of the acclimated and naturalized trees or bushes, if the owners could be induced to go into the business, the shade of the fig tree as well as of the vine could in a few years become a universal feature of an Inland Empire landscape.

THE CHRONICLE is under obligations to Dr. J. R. Cardwell, president of the Oregon state board of horticulture, for a copy of the biennial report to the assembly. It is very interesting, particularly upon such topics as fig culture, by A. T. Hawley, etc. We would not have the state horticultural society lose sight of the fact that remarkably fine figs are produced in The Dalles. This year Mr. E. Shanno had them in abundance, fully ripe and perfected in June. From judicious planting and cultivation of the slips and cuttings of the acclimated and naturalized trees or bushes, if the owners could be induced to go into the business, the shade of the fig tree as well as of the vine could in a few years become a universal feature of an Inland Empire landscape.

THE CHRONICLE is under obligations to Dr. J. R. Cardwell, president of the Oregon state board of horticulture, for a copy of the biennial report to the assembly. It is very interesting, particularly upon such topics as fig culture, by A. T. Hawley, etc. We would not have the state horticultural society lose sight of the fact that remarkably fine figs are produced in The Dalles. This year Mr. E. Shanno had them in abundance, fully ripe and perfected in June. From judicious planting and cultivation of the slips and cuttings of the acclimated and naturalized trees or bushes, if the owners could be induced to go into the business, the shade of the fig tree as well as of the vine could in a few years become a universal feature of an Inland Empire landscape.

THE CHRONICLE is under obligations to Dr. J. R. Cardwell, president of the Oregon state board of horticulture, for a copy of the biennial report to the assembly. It is very interesting, particularly upon such topics as fig culture, by A. T. Hawley, etc. We would not have the state horticultural society lose sight of the fact that remarkably fine figs are produced in The Dalles. This year Mr. E. Shanno had them in abundance, fully ripe and perfected in June. From judicious planting and cultivation of the slips and cuttings of the acclimated and naturalized trees or bushes, if the owners could be induced to go into the business, the shade of the fig tree as well as of the vine could in a few years become a universal feature of an Inland Empire landscape.

THE CHRONICLE is under obligations to Dr. J. R. Cardwell, president of the Oregon state board of horticulture, for a copy of the biennial report to the assembly. It is very interesting, particularly upon such topics as fig culture, by A. T. Hawley, etc. We would not have the state horticultural society lose sight of the fact that remarkably fine figs are produced in The Dalles. This year Mr. E. Shanno had them in abundance, fully ripe and perfected in June. From judicious planting and cultivation of the slips and cuttings of the acclimated and naturalized trees or bushes, if the owners could be induced to go into the business, the shade of the fig tree as well as of the vine could in a few years become a universal feature of an Inland Empire landscape.

THE CHRONICLE is under obligations to Dr. J. R. Cardwell, president of the Oregon state board of horticulture, for a copy of the biennial report to the assembly. It is very interesting, particularly upon such topics as fig culture, by A. T. Hawley, etc. We would not have the state horticultural society lose sight of the fact that remarkably fine figs are produced in The Dalles. This year Mr. E. Shanno had them in abundance, fully ripe and perfected in June. From judicious planting and cultivation of the slips and cuttings of the acclimated and naturalized trees or bushes, if the owners could be induced to go into the business, the shade of the fig tree as well as of the vine could in a few years become a universal feature of an Inland Empire landscape.

THE CHRONICLE is under obligations to Dr. J. R. Cardwell, president of the Oregon state board of horticulture, for a copy of the biennial report to the assembly. It is very interesting, particularly upon such topics as fig culture, by A. T. Hawley, etc. We would not have the state horticultural society lose sight of the fact that remarkably fine figs are produced in The Dalles. This year Mr. E. Shanno had them in abundance, fully ripe and perfected in June. From judicious planting and cultivation of the slips and cuttings of the acclimated and naturalized trees or bushes, if the owners could be induced to go into the business, the shade of the fig tree as well as of the vine could in a few years become a universal feature of an Inland Empire landscape.

THE CHRONICLE is under obligations to Dr. J. R. Cardwell, president of the Oregon state board of horticulture, for a copy of the biennial report to the assembly. It is very interesting, particularly upon such topics as fig culture, by A. T. Hawley, etc. We would not have the state horticultural society lose sight of the fact that remarkably fine figs are produced in The Dalles. This year Mr. E. Shanno had them in abundance, fully ripe and perfected in June. From judicious planting and cultivation of the slips and cuttings of the acclimated and naturalized trees or bushes, if the owners could be induced to go into the business, the shade of the fig tree as well as of the vine could in a few years become a universal feature of an Inland Empire landscape.

THE CHRONICLE is under obligations to Dr. J. R. Cardwell, president of the Oregon state board of horticulture, for a copy of the biennial report to the assembly. It is very interesting, particularly upon such topics as fig culture, by A. T. Hawley, etc. We would not have the state horticultural society lose sight of the fact that remarkably fine figs are produced in The Dalles. This year Mr. E. Shanno had them in abundance, fully ripe and perfected in June. From judicious planting and cultivation of the slips and cuttings of the acclimated and naturalized trees or bushes, if the owners could be induced to go into the business, the shade of the fig tree as well as of the vine could in a few years become a universal feature of an Inland Empire landscape.

THE CHRONICLE is under obligations to Dr. J. R. Cardwell, president of the Oregon state board of horticulture, for a copy of the biennial report to the assembly. It is very interesting, particularly upon such topics as fig culture, by A. T. Hawley, etc. We would not have the state horticultural society lose sight of the fact that remarkably fine figs are produced in The Dalles. This year Mr. E. Shanno had them in abundance, fully ripe and perfected in June. From judicious planting and cultivation of the slips and cuttings of the acclimated and naturalized trees or bushes, if the owners could be induced to go into the business, the shade of the fig tree as well as of the vine could in a few years become a universal feature of an Inland Empire landscape.

THE CHRONICLE is under obligations to Dr. J. R. Cardwell, president of the Oregon state board of horticulture, for a copy of the biennial report to the assembly. It is very interesting, particularly upon such topics as fig culture, by A. T. Hawley, etc. We would not have the state horticultural society lose sight of the fact that remarkably fine figs are produced in The Dalles. This year Mr. E. Shanno had them in abundance, fully ripe and perfected in June. From judicious planting and cultivation of the slips and cuttings of the acclimated and naturalized trees or bushes, if the owners could be induced to go into the business, the shade of the fig tree as well as of the vine could in a few years become a universal feature of an Inland Empire landscape.

THE CHRONICLE is under obligations to Dr. J. R. Cardwell, president of the Oregon state board of horticulture, for a copy of the biennial report to the assembly. It is very interesting, particularly upon such topics as fig culture, by A. T. Hawley, etc. We would not have the state horticultural society lose sight of the fact that remarkably fine figs are produced in The Dalles. This year Mr. E. Shanno had them in abundance, fully ripe and perfected in June. From judicious planting and cultivation of the slips and cuttings of the acclimated and naturalized trees or bushes, if the owners could be induced to go into the business, the shade of the fig tree as